I share with you 22nd Annual Report of SOCIAL REVIVAL GROUP OF URBAN RURAL AND TRIBAL (SROUT). I welcome you to Social Revival Group of Urban Rural and Tribal Korba. It is a great pleasure for me to announce you, the major initiatives taken in SROUT for the year ended March 31, 2021.

This year was very difficult for all of us and we are yet to recover from this tragedy. Covid has brought us to a point where we have to start afresh. We got the opportunity to serve the people even during the Covid-19 pandemic and it continues this year as well.

This year, arrangements were made by the organization to provide masks, sanitizers, soap as well as ration to the people at the time of COVID – 19 Lockdown. Along with this, we also had to keep the children in our Balgrih and the women in the Ujjwala home safe from COVID – 19, as well as protecting our worker from COVID – 19 and making arrangements for them was the main responsibility.

This year SROUT has implemented Arogya project with the help of Balco CSR, COVID – 19 Relief work with support of different organizations, Child home and Ujjwala grih in support of Women and child development department, and Child line with support of MWCD and Child line India foundation.

We would like to thanks all supporters and funders of our organizations with whose cooperation we were able to do this

We will keep continue our efforts to serve the humanity in coming years as we have done in the past.

With best wishes from

Arogya project –. Project Arogya is a health project on health implemented by SROUT in support of Balco CSR. The project aims to target areas of issues in health care and supports the community with interventions in Primary Health Care, Awareness on various seasonal and non- seasonal diseases. Specific emphasis is laid on Malaria, TB, HIV and Maternal & Child Health in order to create a community which is free from diseases and can lead healthy and prosperous lives.

The program has been implemented in Balco's plant location, actively covering 26 core villages & Urban slums covering over 35000 people. The introduction of Arogya in these areas is relevant as most of the villagers had to travel a great distance to avail medical facilities, also the medical facilities used to cost a significant amount which is more than what rural population could afford. This may include children without parental care, runaway children, migrant children, and child substance abusers. Started in 2013, it has the capacity for up to 50 children, providing accommodation, basic, care, as well as counseling and support as needed. The home works closely with the local Child Welfare Committee to respond to each unique case, determining the best and most caring option for the child, with an ideal of reintegrating the child with their family if is possible and reasonable. This year we have given shelter to the 32 children of organization.

Ujjwala: The trafficking of women and children for commercial sexual exploitation is an organized crime that is on the rise in India. Ujjawala is a national scheme established by the Ministry of Women and Child Development that works to prevent human trafficking and provide rescue, rehabilitation, and re-integration services to victims of trafficking. SROUT has been the implementing agency for the Ujjawala scheme in Korba district since 2013, with focused efforts on two key aspects of the scheme: prevention and rehabilitation.

In 2020-2021, was very stressful due to Covid – 19 pandemic but except all these things SROUT ran a number of public awareness campaigns, including wall writings and paintings, as well as two village-based workshops with a total of 26 participants. These focused on prevention, including information on how to report suspected trafficking. SROUT continues to run the Ujjwala women’s shelter, which provides temporary residence for women and girls who are victims or are at risk of becoming victims of trafficking and other forms of abuse. This year a total of 37 women & 7 children accessed the shelter from different district of Korba and neighbor state of chhattisgarh most staying for less than three months. SROUT supports these women with their day-to-day living, as well as any necessary counseling or medical referrals. Furthermore, occasional trainings or special activities are organized, such as tailoring, bag-making, observation of women’s day, yoga day, etc. Ultimately, SROUT staff members strive to reunite these women and girls with their families or guardians, providing counseling on further prevention and rehabilitation to all parties involved.

The Ujjwala Women’s shelter is a temporary shelter for women and girls who have been victims or are at risk of human trafficking and other various forms of abuse in the Korba district. In addition to giving women a place of refuge, the shelter provides support through prevention and rehabilitation efforts to work towards ending human trafficking and domestic abuse.

Farmers producer organization

The Farmer Producer Organization (FPO) is an initiative to assist small and marginal farmers in accessing inputs, investments, technology, and markets by mobilizing them to leverage their market aggregate market power. Through collective action, farmers are able to enhance productivity through efficient, cost-effective and sustainable resource use. They attain a higher market value for their produce by controlling a larger market share. The combination of these two factors leads to significantly higher returns for their labor and production. SROUT supports an FPO in Bhatgaon village of Korba district.

Watershed project –

Agriculture is a primary income source for approximately 80% of Chhattisgarh's inhabitants. The majority of these farmers rely on rainfall and traditional methods to cultivate their produce. As a result, agricultural communities are highly vulnerable to unpredictable weather patterns, such as flooding and drought. The Watershed Development Program is designed to improve soil quality and water conservation through earthen structures that slow down the movement of rainwater through an area as well as water storage strategies that provide irrigation sources for dry months. Though facilitated by SROUT staff and funded by NABARD and BALCO, this is a village-led program, with community members making decisions and providing labour to implement water management strategies.

Currently, SROUT is supporting a watershed development project in the Songudha watershed, encompassing the Songudha, Aurakachar, and Dondaro villages. In June 2017 the capacity-building phase of this project was completed. Since then, technical challenges have required that the main phase be put on hold. However, in 2019-2020 SROUT has worked to connect these villages to government programs that will support their community development. This includes MGNREGA, which has been used to construct toilet facilities, new wells, new ponds, and to deepen existing ponds. SROUT has also connected village members to the PMAY housing scheme. In the meantime, the Village Watershed Committee has continued to meet to plan for main phase implementation. They have worked to raise awareness about the benefits of watershed development so that community members will be prepared to contribute labour when the main phase can be implemented. In this year 2020-21 Main Phase preparation was completed and plan has been submitted to NABARD Regional office for further sanction.
